

Welcome to Germany

We hope that you have arrived here in our country safe and sound.

A good integration and a peaceful coexistence of all people here in Germany are essential to us. In order to give people with a different cultural background the chance to integrate and settle into our society, we would hereby like to draw your attention to a fundamental basis of our social order.

The Basic Law for the Federal Republic of Germany is the legal and political constitutional order in the Federal Republic of Germany.

It includes among other things the following basic and civil rights:

„Human dignity shall be inviolable“
(Article 1)

„Men and women shall have equal rights“
(Article 3 paragraph 2)

These basic principles are laid down in more detail in additional laws. More precisely, they include the following fundamental rules:

Men may not beat women, men may not mistreat women psychologically or emotionally, and they may not use sexual violence!

Women have the right to dress themselves just as they like. Here in Germany, revealing dresses are accepted as normal and allowed!

This is by no means a sign or an invitation for men for sexual comments or actions.

Non-observance of these rules is a violation of law! The police prosecute violence and offences against the law consequently. Please respect our basis of coexistence.

Herausgeberinnen:

Gleichstellungsstelle der Stadt Worms in Zusammenarbeit mit den Beauftragten für Migration und Integration der Stadt Worms
Marktplatz 2 · 67547 Worms

Welcome to Germany

The Basic Law for the Federal Republic of Germany is the legal and political constitutional order in the Federal Republic of Germany.

It includes among other things the following basic and civil rights:

„Human dignity shall be inviolable“
(Article 1)

„Men and women shall have equal rights“
(Article 3 paragraph 2)

These basic principles are laid down in more detail in additional laws. More precisely, they include the following fundamental rules:

Men may not beat women, men may not mistreat women psychically or emotionally, and they may not use sexual violence!

Non-observance of these rules is a violation of law! The police prosecute violence and offences against the law consequently.

Women have the right to dress themselves just as they like. Here in Germany, revealing dresses are accepted as normal and allowed! This is by no means a sign or an invitation for men for sexual comments or actions.

To all women:

Ask for help if you are threatened, beaten or hit, abused or mistreated!

Contact the police or the security service, Tel. 110 or call the nationwide telephone help, Tel. 08000 116 016, which is a free advice service available day and night in many different languages!